Henry Stevens, before he went to bed, went over to the Wilsons next door (apparently about 10.30 as Eger left him about 10.15) and said to Mrs. Wilson: "I see you are packing up to go and I have three blue fish that I have cleaned a little while ago and I would like very much for you to take a couple of them to your home in Jersey City with you tomorrow. I will keep them in the icebox for you until you start." Henry Stevens then left them, went home and went to bed about 11 o'clock. Mrs. Wilsons two daughters were present. Henry Stevens does not remember whether he had any conversation with the Wilsons that evening regarding arrangements to take them to Point Pleasant next day or not. He imagines, however, that he had made arrangements the day previous. Mrs. Wilson stated that she remembers Henry Stevens closing his garage doors sometime that evening.
